

Six Pump Court Chambers, London are delighted to host the forthcoming webinar to be held on 5th December 2022

THE IMPACT OF ECONOMIC SANCTIONS ON INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION

Chair: Andrew Moran KC

Speakers: Paul McGarry SC, Steven Walker KC and Daniel Martin

Purpose: In this virtual seminar, members of Six Pump Court Chambers, Andrew Moran KC, Paul McGarry SC and Steven Walker KC, accompanied by Daniel Martin a partner of HFW London (a specialist in advising clients and dispute resolution practitioners on the impact of sanctions regimes in the UK and worldwide) will be dealing with the increasing impact of sanctions regimes, created and applying around the World, to major economic players in an ever increasing geographical and political spectrum, upon the processes of international dispute resolution.

The prime focus will be on the impact of sanctions on international arbitration as they may affect arbitrators, parties and their representatives, but it will also take in their effect in litigation and transactional work. The span of expertise in those delivering the seminar is literally worldwide. Andrew Moran KC who will moderate at the seminar, is a full time international arbitrator based in Singapore, London and Spain, presently appointed in several arbitrations in which the effect of sanctions has arisen. Paul McGarry SC, a past Chair of the Bar of Ireland, a specialist in European Law and international arbitrator, will deal with the impact of EU sanctions. Daniel Martin will deal with the UK sanctions regime. Steven Walker KC, based between London and Asia Pacific, is an international commercial Silk, with a specialisation in international arbitration, will deal with the impact of sanctions in the rest of the world, including the China regime.

This is a remarkable opportunity for those attending to gain a truly international perspective of sanctions regimes in operation and how they might be affected by them; to be informed as to how they operate in different places and spheres of activity; and, most importantly, to be informed of the exceptions they might enjoy, but also the serious pitfalls, including of strict liability offences and other personal sanctions that might ensue upon unwitting infringement.
